

Craig Henderson – The Classic

With an MA in Classical Archaeology and Ancient History from Edinburgh University, the RADA-trained Scottish actor has been described in the UK press as a 'world class charmer and a rising star'. Likened to a British Tom Cruise, Henderson has just starred in Making Waves, a lively romantic comedy from Blue Star Movies that will be debuting at Cannes 2005. He will also be seen as a playboy racing driver starring alongside Peter Bowles and Alexander Bastedo in Poseidon Films' upcoming romantic thriller, The Byzantine Cat, both scheduled for release in 2005. Classics never go out of style.

